by Asking Conservatives to Make

Country—Proposition Will Please Western Dominion Farmers, but Will Arouse Ire of Manufacturers.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Although reports that come from constituencies from Yukon to Halifax indicate that there is going to be a landslide at the coming election, there is considerable doubt expressed as to which side it will be on.

Supporters of Laurier say that the Conservatives and their Nationalist allies have exhausted their supply of superlatives and that the government has been saving its big ammunition for the late hours. It is said here that within a few days Sir Wilfrid Laurier will play a trump card by calling on the Conservatives to make good their claims that they want better and freer trade relations with Great Britain by announcing that the government will introduce a measure either increasing the British prefer-

BAILEY THOUGHT TO BE IN EARNEST

Scramble Is On For Texan's Seat in United States Senate.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 7.—The news that Senator J. A. Bailey will not be a candidate for re-election startled the state officials here, but the unanimous sentiment of friends and enemies is that a most disturbing element in Texas politics has been eliminated. The principal subject of discussion is the junior senator's successor and the effect of the breaking up of the Bailey machine, whose supporters will be hardest hit.

The general belief is that Bailey will not change his mind and has really withdrawn from Texas politics. Former Governor Thomas M. Campbell's chances for being nominated by the Democrats as senator from Texas are materially improved by Bailey's withdrawal. Other likely candidates are Congressman Morris Sheppard and C. S. Randall.

Union Leaders' Conference

Seek to Prevent Strike Before Details Completed.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Five international presidents of federation of railroad shop employees left hurriedly for Sacramento in order to prevent a strike which leaders in that city are about to declare. President Kline of the blacksmiths said that they could not afford to have a strike declared by any single union before a conference of union men from all parts of the state which has been called for tomorrow in Frisco. Before leaving Kline stated that a strike could be called from the Chicago headquarters at any time.

Sibley Escapes Trial.

Warren, Pa., Sept. 7.—The case of former Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, who was charged with conspiracy to defraud voters in the congressional election of 1910, will never be brought to trial. It has been stricken from the records by a nol-pros granted by Judge W. D. Hinckley. The application was made by private counsel for the Warren County Civic league, the prosecutors, and was based upon affidavits of physicians that Mr. Sibley's health probably never will permit him to undergo the ordeal of a trial.

Famous Authoress Is Dead

Body of Mrs. Thurston Found in Hotel Room at Cork.

Cork, Ireland, Sept. 7.—Katherine Cecil Thurston, author of "The Masquerader," "The Gambler" and other books, was found dead in a hotel here.

Mrs. Thurston had been living quietly since her divorce, from her author husband, Ernest Temple Thurston, whom she married in 1901. In 1907 Thurston left his wife, declaring that for the purposes of his literary work it was necessary for him to go to the very bottom of society. He took up his residence in the Soho quarter with another woman.

PROSECUTOR GETS A LETTER "EYE WITNESS"

MAY CAUSE OPENING OF CASE

KINKEAD IS READY FOR DIEGLE SENTENCE

Hogan Says Guilty Furnish Defense Fund.

Columbus, O., Sept. 7.—The guilty men "higher up" have been furnishing the money for the defense of Rodney J. Diegel, convicted go-between in legislative bribery deals, was the declaration of Attorney General Hogan, following a conference in his office with Prosecutor Turner.

"Mr. Turner and I are agreed that the strongest proof that Diegel isn't telling the whole truth about bribery is the fact that other men, unknown to us, are furnishing the money for his defense," said Hogan. "At our last conference with Diegel he said to Mr. Turner and I: 'I haven't a dollar in the world, I'm not paying these lawyers who are defending me—that is being done by others.'"

"Diegel wants to protect other men who have been indicted for bribery, and for that reason Mr. Turner and I have washed our hands of him. If he will tell what he admits to us he knows we would be willing to recommend mercy for him when he is brought before Judge Kinkead for sentence this week, but under no other conditions will we intercede."

Judge Kinkead has returned from his summer vacation and today announced that he is ready to sentence Diegel whenever he is brought into court.

Retain Jones as Superintendent.

Columbus, O., Sept. 7.—The new board of administration has reappointed Professor J. W. Jones superintendent of the state school for the Deaf and Dumb. Jones has for 16 years headed the institution and his re-election was by acclamation.

Eleventh Hour Witness Appears In Beattie Case.

WENDENBURG PROBES STORY

May Have Case Reopened and Body of Victim Disinterred—Informant Writes That While He Was Hunting Lost Cow He Witnessed Tragically On Midlothian Turnpike—Bribed to Leave County, but Is Conscience Stricken.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—Startling evidence, which came to Prosecutor Wendenburg in the form of a letter, may render necessary the reopening of the Beattie trial to admit the testimony of a man who declares that he was an eye witness to the murder of Mrs. Beattie on the night of July 18. So strongly does the prosecutor believe in the truth of the information he has received that he has wired the authorities of another city to co-operate with a lawyer there in the examination of a man who states that he witnessed the murder.

Today Wendenburg expects to hear from these authorities whether or not the volunteer witness is thought to be telling the truth. If a favorable reply is received, the witness will be hurried to Chesterfield, C. H., and will go on the stand immediately to confront the prisoner, who, he says in a confession to Wendenburg, shot Mrs. Beattie before his eyes.

So closely does the circumstances of the murder narrated by this self-confessed eye-witness tally with the theories held by the prosecution that if the witness is brought to testify Wendenburg will move for the exhumation of Mrs. Beattie's body in order that physical facts may corroborate the story of the witness.

Withholds Name of City.

The letter in question was mailed at a city the name of which Wendenburg withholds from publication, but which he says is a day and a half distant by rail from Richmond.

"I write this because my conscience will no longer allow me to be still," were the first words of the letter. "I saw Henry Beattie kill his wife," the letter continues, "and I have kept my mouth shut to this minute because I

Mrs. Hetty Green's New Home In New York's Fashionable Quarter

MRS. HETTY GREEN, popularly credited with being the world's richest woman, has a new home, having leased the house at No. 5 West Ninetieth street, New York. Living in a "brownstone front" is something of a new experience for Mrs. Green. Despite her great wealth she has always been credited with being of a thrifty turn of mind, and her places of abode have not been of a character to set back her bank account to any very great extent. For years she occupied a flat in Hoboken, N. J., said to have cost $14 a month. A few years ago she created a mild sensation by going to live at one of New York's leading hotels in rooms for which it was said she paid $30 a day. But her stay there was measured in days, and back she went to Hoboken. For a time, after the marriage of her daughter Sylvia to Matthew Astor Wilks, she made her home with the Wilkses in ultra fashionable Madison avenue near the home of J. Pierpont Morgan and other notables. But she soon tired of that and again went back to her little flat. Now announcement is made that she will reside permanently at the West Ninetieth street house, which adjoins the stylish Central Park West and overlooks the park. Whether this latest home will be to her entire liking remains to be seen, but she gives promise of continuing there now that she has turned her business cares over to her son and looks forward to a life of quiet and ease.

Millionaires Indicted For Smuggling

Are Charged with Smuggling Celebrated Jenkins Jewels.

New York, Sept. 7.—The Jenkins-Allen jewel case, which has been before the public since Mrs. Helen D. Jenkins announced that she was robbed of valuable gems while staying at the Hotel Lorraine, came to a head when United States Attorney Wise made public two indictments found by the federal grand jury on Aug. 23 against Nathan Allen, a wealthy leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins, president of the Southern Coal company of Memphis, Tenn. The indictments charge both men with smuggling and with conspiracy with "divers other persons" to defraud the United States.

International Dispute Thought to Have Been Settled in 1908 Bobs Up Again as Result of United States Senators' Refusal to Ratify Original Document—Lake Michigan and Western Fishing Interests Held Responsible for Objection.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 7.—The changes proposed by the United States in the international fisheries treaty concluded between Canada and the United States in 1908 are not acceptable to the Dominion government, and the work of years of negotiations is to be rendered ineffective. The official announcement of the Canadian government's position in the matter will be made in a few days. The information on the subject comes from

President Talks Of Peace

President Is Guest of Connecticut
State Fair Today.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 7.—President Taft will talk to the Connecticut folk at their state fair at Hartford today about peace. His time in the Nutmeg state is to be divided between a luncheon with Governor Baldwin, Mayor Edward L. Smith and 35 prominent citizens and his address at the state fair grounds. Besides this there will be a parade with the president as the central figure, and a heap of national and state military trimmings and the governor's own band.

Postoria, O., Sept. 7.—Jeremiah Blosser, nominated for councilman on the Democratic ticket, died from peritonitis within 24 hours after the close of the primaries.

PROMINENT YOUNG FARMER HAS BACK BROKEN STILL LIVING—MAY RECOVER

Assisting in Moving an Old Building

STRUCTURE SLIPPED OFF JACK

Caught the Young Man and Crushed Him.

Although his back is broken, Robert Garringer, 22, son of O. O. Garringer of the Anderson pike, is still alive and will recover unless some unforeseen complications set in.

Mr. Garringer was assisting in the moving of an old building on his father's farm on the Anderson pike Wednesday, when the building slipped from the jack, and in falling, caught the young man and crushed him to the ground, fracturing the vertebrae in the lumbar region, cutting a gash behind his right ear, causing a large contusion on the right shoulder, and leaving him in a critical condition with his lower extremities paralyzed so that he could barely move.

It was in this condition that Dr. L. M. McFadden found him when he rushed to the scene in his automobile, and it appeared that the young man's life was only a question of hours. After making a careful examination, and ascertaining that two sections of the vertebrae, or back bone, had been wrenched from position, Dr. McFadden telephoned for Dr. Leach, of Columbus, and he hurried down at once.

The two physicians then proceeded to place the vertebrae back into position at the risk of causing almost instant death, the two physicians placed the bones back into position, and the paralysis of the lower extremities disappeared, leaving the injured man in a very weak condition, but on the road to recovery.

The injury was one of the most rare known and except in rare instances results in death or permanent injury. The two physicians literally snatched their patient from the very jaws of death.

A speedy recovery is expected now that the injured bones are placed in position without, it is now believed, injury to the delicate spinal cord.

Good Attractions At Empire Vaudeville

The attractions at the Empire Vaudeville for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, are sure to draw large crowds. First on the program are the Ford Sisters, eccentric comedians. Delmo, with his comedy juggling comes next, and it can be safely said that Delmo has few equals in his line.

Dolly Burton and her dogs is another attraction that has made a hit wherever it has been staged. It is a pleasure to old and young to see this act.

These three companies will play at the Empire the remainder of the week with matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Ben Lawwill Hurt in Auto Race

Ben Lawwill, well known in this city, who married Miss Hazel Graves of South Fayette street and has since lived in Columbus where Mr. Lawwill has been employed in an automobile factory, was one of the men seriously injured in the Columbus automobile races Sunday. He is still in a bad condition, but it is hoped will recover.

Mr. Lawwill was employed as substitute mechanic on a Buick, driven at the first of the race by his brother, Frank Lawwill, but at the time of the accident was steered by John Raney, of Cincinnati, who was also injured in the crash.

Refuses To Reopen Beattie Case

Special to Herald.

Chesterfield C. H., Va., Sept. 7.—The County Prosecutor this morning refused to re-open the Beattie case, notwithstanding a letter was received from a person who claimed to have been an eye witness to the murder. The prosecution claims the case is strong enough without the testimony of the newly discovered eye witness.

Paul Beattie, cousin of the accused man, and Beulah Binford, the woman in the case, were released on order of the court this morning. Beulah announced her intention of immediately leaving Virginia. "Broadway for mine!" she said.

Judge Watson's charge to the jury pleased the defense. The Court charged that confession out of court was doubtful evidence, and the jury should not convict on this alone. Attorneys then began arguments. Case goes to jury Friday.

Roosevelt Attacks Peace Treaties

Farmer Breaks Arm In Alighting From Cars

Mr. William Wilson, a prosperous farmer of the Waterloo pike, five miles east of this city, was the only person, so far as known, who suffered seriously from the Elks' excursion Wednesday. Mr. Wilson was in the act of alighting from one of the electric cars, when his foot slipped and he fell, breaking the right arm at the wrist.

The injured man was hurried to the office of a physician and given attention. The physician then rushed him to the train in an automobile in time for his patient to board the train for home.

Mr. Wilson is about 60 years of age, and his arm will trouble him for many weeks. He suffered great pain on the journey home.

Elks Are Highly Complimented on Success of First Annual Outing.

All of the many hundreds who went to Buckeye Lake on the Elks' first annual excursion enjoyed the outing to the limit. To nearly every one it was a day long to be remembered. Comfortable seats were available for every one, and nothing was left undone to further the pleasure of the two long train loads of people who were members of the big excursion party.

The day from beginning to end was ideal, and Buckeye Lake was never more beautiful, although the park itself was not at its best for want of rebuilding in many places. With only a short stop, both sections ran into Hebron on time, and a more orderly crowd never left the city.

A line of electric cars were in waiting at Hebron and made the trip to Buckeye Lake at once, where the crowd soon took possession of the grounds. Scores made a rush for the boat house to be first on the lake trip, while others found amusement in many of the attractions. All were delighted with the place.

Hundreds had packed boxes of friend chicken together with all of the usual good things that go into a picnic basket or box, and enjoyed the noonday meal on the rustic seats beneath the shade of the park trees. No accidents marred the pleasure of the day at the park, and good order prevailed at all times, with the exception of late in the evening, when two youngsters became engaged in a squabble which resulted in blows and drew a crowd.

One of these young rascals, who had evidently been over to get acquainted with the "Blue Goose," has a reputation as a bad boy, and caused some little disturbance later, but the committee of Elks on board the second section restored ideal order, and the matter ended.

No better order was ever maintained than that on the trains run by the Elks, and the committee is to be congratulated on the splendid success of the excursion throughout. The returning trains were delayed a short time, one section reaching this city before nine o'clock, and the second shortly after nine.

While the rain on Tuesday prevented many from going on the excursion, yet the trip was a success in every way, and the Elks are greatly pleased over the result.

NOTES

A number of amusing incidents occurred on the excursion. One story is recalled by the many oil well derricks at Bremen and vicinity. A farmer who had never beheld a derrick before and saw the derrick standing sentinel over the surrounding country, exclaimed: "Goodness sakes alive! what a hard storm has struck this country through here; it has blown all of the wheels off the wind-pumps!"

Even excursions are not free from "train hogs". They were in evidence on the Elks' excursion, but not very plentiful. While the first section was being loaded at the depot in this city, a young man and his female companion sat down in a seat; placed their baggage in the parcel receptacle, raised the window to derive the benefit from the fresh air, and were just comfortably seated when three middle-aged women entered. They were strangers, and very much on the look out for the welfare of themselves to the discomfort of others. There were plenty of seats on the opposite side of the aisle from the young couple, but after fussing around and wanting to turn seats so they could face each other, they decided they wanted the other side of the car, and one of the women had the audacity to demand that the young couple move to another seat so they could have seats to face each other on that side of the car. It is needless to say that the woman was "turned down."

Labor May Be Lost

a high source and is authentic. It will be remembered that under the terms of the treaty regulations governing the fisheries in international waters were drawn up by the commissioners, Professor Prince for Canada and Professor David Starr Jordan for the United States. These regulations were to become effective after concurrent proclamations by the governor general of Canada and the president of the United States.

Both Parties Unanimous.

The necessary legislation to enable the proclamation was passed by the parliament of Canada during the session of 1910, receiving the unanimous approval of both political parties. From the fact that the treaty so received the unanimous support of the opposition side of the house of commons, the inference is safe that the measure was one that would fairly well conserve the interests of the Canada fisheries.

The American authorities have failed, however, to pass the legislation required to put the treaty into effect. After the regulations had been drawn up it was found that certain interests, notably in the state of Michigan and on the Pacific coast of the United States, were opposed to their promulgation. These interests desired changes in the regulations to harmonize with their views.

BUCKMASTER A WINNER

Former Washington Man Has Splendid Victory in Columbus Primary.

The many Washington friends of Mr. L. W. Buckmaster, at present the Columbus city passenger agent of the Hocking Valley lines, were much gratified at the election news from the Capital city.

Mr. Buckmaster was a candidate in the Republican primaries for the nomination for councilman-at-large and was overwhelmingly victorious, his friends owing to his support by the hundreds.

Mr. Buckmaster was formerly councilman from the Eleventh ward and was defeated two years ago by Morgan E. Price.

This year he led his ticket for the Republican nomination, receiving 4509 votes or a plurality of 1692 votes over the next highest man.

Mr. Buckmaster's big vote is accounted for on the theory that many of his friends voted for him alone although they were entitled to vote for other candidates too.

Whatever the reason of his tremendous vote may be Mr. Buckmaster has been handsomely vindicated and friends here and in Columbus are consequently jubilant.

CHILICOTHE WORKMAN MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH

Falls Across Live Wire and is Instantly Killed

FATHER WITNESSED SAD AFFAIR

But Was Powerless to Render Assistance---No Burns Visible.

Edward McMullen, aged 26, and single, was electrocuted shortly before 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning at Chillicothe, while working on the new barn being erected by William Lowrey, the undertaker, on Second street. The man died shortly after being removed from the wire having been taken off by Mr. Lowrey himself at the risk of his own life.

McMullen was a brick layer and cement worker and with his father did their own contracting. The young man was killed while his father stood helpless below.

The building had reached the second story and young McMullen was engaged in work on the upper story which at this time can only be reached by ladders. Mr. Lowrey was on the ground floor when he heard a cry of distress, and hastening up the ladder as fast as he could he saw McMullen lying over a portion of the new wall and upon some high tension wires of the Electric Light company, which were just about even with the new wall.

Mr. Lowrey as quickly as possible got a board and at the risk of his own life, removed the prostrate man from the wires and wall and lifted him to the scaffolding below. Physicians were summoned, but medical attention was no longer of avail. The young man died shortly after being taken off the wire.

The supposition is that McMullen while working on the wall fainted, and fell on the wires. He had complained Tuesday of being ill and there was some story to the effect that he suffered with heart trouble, but this his father denies. There were no serious burns on his body, although there were some marks on his forehead.

President Vaughters of the Electric Light Co., says there are high tension wires in the alley and that they have recently been gone over. He says however, that they were not charged at that hour of the morning. Coroner Franklin took charge of the remains and will make an investigation.

Fine Duroc Jersey Mother of Nearly Score

W. A. Elliott, Bogus road, possesses what he believes to be the best specimen of Duroc Jersey swine in the county. This animal is the pride of the Elliott herd, and recently became the mother of nineteen frisky young piggies.

Not receiving the proper attention in the way of protection from the hot sun, this unusually large number of pigs soon fell to an even dozen the hot sun proving too much for seven of them.

All of the pigs were of the mule foot breed, and if the hot sun had not killed the seven it is believed the sow would have raised the entire family to maturity.

TEACHER TRAINING NOTICE.

The Training for Service Class which met last winter at the home of Mrs. Eva J. Penn and later at Grace M. E. church will begin work again Tuesday, September 12, at 2:30 p. m. All those who were in the class last year are urged to continue the study and any others who wish to take the first year Teacher Training work are invited to join the class.

Members of the class are asked to speak to their friends about the work and to call their attention to the value of it. Now is the time to begin. All who are interested and wish to know about this Bible study are invited to visit the class next Tuesday at 2:30 at Grace church.

The Monday club will meet Monday, Sept. 11, at the home of Mrs. Kennedy. The lesson will be chapters three and four in "A Bible School Vision." A full attendance is desired.

A first year Teacher Training class is taught at the Christian church each Sunday at the regular Sunday school hour and a class in the first book of the Advanced course at 3 p. m. Sunday. From "Eden to Jordan" is the book used by the afternoon class. Everybody welcome.

BIG FREIGHT BUSINESS HANDLED

The anticipated business slump which has been a bug-a-boo without the terrors prognosticated, does not seem to be effecting the freight traffic and from the large business in transit which goes through Washington there is every indication of active enterprise.

The B. & O. yards are handling an immense business this year and are reported to be in better shape for taking care of it than last year, when its congested condition caused serious trouble.

Fifty cars were handled Wednesday and the local switching train kept in the yards from ten in the morning until 7 at night, placing them. One hundred and fifty-seven cars passed through our city Wednesday.

The freight business at this junction is a heavy one to take care of and requires expert skill in the handling, as well as large yards to avoid congestion.

The C. & C. freight business is also more than up to the standard and this season promises to be a record-breaker.

TONING DOWN.

It is said that President Taft has a vigorous and trenchant style of expression which he uses freely in public addresses and in public documents, as, for instance, in messages to Congress and in his veto messages. In fact, the President indites his views with such force that he becomes at times vehement, and the proofs which the Public Printer sends him generally have to be revised, toned down, and expurgated to suit the maturer thought of the President and his advisers, for all of his public utterances are usually gone over at Cabinet meetings before they are given out to the world.

This characteristic to speak his mind in no uncertain terms upon matters of great public concern is a virtue in the President or in any man who possesses that characteristic, and it seems all wrong that political conditions are such, from long custom, that any honest, fearless public official need tone down his expressed views in order that the effect on his and his party's future may not be injured or jeopardized.

The president's training as a public servant, has been in those public positions which held him accountable to no party and in which his future was assured. Consequently he has intensified that estimable natural characteristic of speaking out in meeting and hitting straight from the shoulder at the falacious position of his opponents.

Another needed step in reform is to curb, if it is impossible to wholly do away with, the public demand for a man who endeavors either successfully or unsuccessfully to cover up his meaning and take that forceful sting out of his public utterances which carries strength of his position home to his hearers.

The president's disposition to speak plainly is one which the people should unanimously commend and not condemn.

Public servants in the honest and faithful discharge of their official duty cannot help hurting some one in their pronounced views and the people should stop demanding that they try to do so.

Modern Woman

There Ought to be Only Equality of Sexes

By MARY R. COLE

HERE is such a delightful balance between the endowments of men and women, the two sexes are so eternally interdependent, that there should be no disadvantage in belonging to either half of humanity. But when we consider our civilization we are tempted to believe that Nature planned us for some Age of Gold, which suddenly turned to base alloy on her hands. Looking along the pageant of the centuries, we see that in cruder times women's disadvantage was a question of muscle, and today women are still handicapped, in spite of great all-round advances, because their imperfectly trained minds and bodies still conspire with convention to perpetuate conditions induced by the reign of brute force.

The savage woman found it a sad disadvantage to have to grind all the corn and bear all the burdens. The more civilized woman saw that her untrained labor was but a sorry means of providing for those dependent upon her. The women of today appreciate the disadvantage of offering her skill in a market where of two standards for the same work the lower is her allotted portion. The modern woman would rescue her city from corruption, foster the juvenile court, aid the teachers by providing a pension system; but she finds her sex a crushing disadvantage in a society which approved of her helping to pay for the government, but disapproves of her helping to elect its officers.

A woman is at a disadvantage in private life also. But whenever the sexes have come together in the simple family relation the power which makes the world go round has always neutralized some of the artificial distinctions of society. Away from the competitive struggle individuality has a chance. The greatest power of concentration guides the family fortunes, whether its possessor be man or woman. But though character wins out at last, it always costs the woman more to make her power felt.

The historical attitude of formulated Christianity toward our sex commands women to be obedient to their husbands, harking back to the dictum of the aristocratic Apostle to the Gentiles. And dogmatists still follow Paul's rushlight, preferring his narrow conception of a submissive woman to Jesus' broader vision, which saw no distinctions of sex or rank in the great family of humanity.

Today we accept as a convention that men should be uncovered and women covered in churches and assemblies, at teas, funerals and the like. We think of it, if at all, as an odd survival, like the obsolete buttons on the back of a man's coat. But when an English rector actually closes his church to prevent its "desecration" through the visits of women in the glory of their own hair we realize that Paul's ghost still walks and tries to blast the wights that cross it. Every disadvantage which the modern woman finds in her home and her outside work is a survival of the old brute force idea, supported by the theological tradition of a superior and an inferior sex.

POETRY
FOR TODAY

FORGOTTEN WORKERS.

They lived, and they were useful;
this we know, and naught beside;

No record of their names is left to show how soon they died;
They did their work, and then they passed away an unknown band;

But they still live in endless day, in some far, shining land.

And were they young, or were they growing old, or ill, or well;
Or lived in poverty, or had they wealth or gold—no one can tell;

One only thing is known of them—
they faithful were and true.
Disciples of the Lord, and strong through prayer to save and do.

Whatever they have lacked of fame,
they lived to God;

They loved the sweetness of another name, and gladly trod
The rugged ways of earth, that they might be helper and friend;

And in the high joy of their ministry be spent and spend.
No glory clusters round their earthly names, but in yon heaven

Is kept a book of names of greater worth, and there is given A space for all who did the Master's will, though here unknown;

And their lost names shine forth in brightest rays before the throne.

O, take who will the boon of fading fame, but give to me

A place among the workers, though my name forgotten be,
And I, who do my work and pass away, if done with cheerful hand,

Shall fill the place assigned the faithful, in that far, shining land.

New Record

Squantum, Mass., Sept. 7.—The Harvard-Boston Aviation society brought its second flying meet to a close with a race to Boston light over the full course of 33 miles as the principal feature. Claude Grahame-White, with his chief mechanic as a passenger, won the race in the record-breaking time of 27:55 1-5. His time is considered very close to a world's record, if not a new record.

Following the deaths of four aviators in three days, a movement has been started in France to regulate aeroplane flights.

Democrats Run Primary Because Republicans Fail to Appear.

Lima, O., Sept. 7.—Because the Democratic presiding judge in the German township primary swore in two lifelong Democrats to act as Republican election officials, the Allen county election board is in a quandary and will ask Secretary of State Graves to settle a fine point of election law for them. The presiding judge says that there are but three Republicans in his township and that the two appointed to represent their party's interests at the polls failed to appear either to vote or to act officially.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Correct Breathing.

The best breathing is that which inflates all the air cells in the lungs at each deep inspiration. The diaphragm, the strong muscle lying across the body and forming a partition between the lungs and the organs beneath it, sucks in a deep, full inspiration, pushing or pressing out the soft bodies below it; hence the first sign that a good, deep breath is being taken is a gentle movement of the abdomen. In order that the lungs be filled latterly the cage-like structure of the ribs gives way, moving out and slightly down. So the swelling out of the body is the second sign of a deep, full respiration. As it is most important that the upper part of the lungs should be expanded, many of the largest air cells being clustered in that region, the chest rises, thus giving out the third indication that a full respiration has been taken. The breath should always be taken through the nostrils and exhaled through the slightly parted lips. It should be taken slowly and noiselessly and exhaled in the same quiet manner, always striving to make it last as long as possible.

Q.—A little girl asked her mother, "Mamma, why don't God kill the Devil?" I have often wished to know the answer to this question; can you answer it?

Answer.—The Scriptures assure us that God has the power to destroy Satan, that old Serpent, the Devil, and that in due time He will do so. (See Genesis iii, 15; Romans xvi, 20; Hebrews ii, 14.) Satan was the first to do evil, and he has seduced both men and angels from the path of righteousness. The baneful effects of sin can best be learned by experience, hence God is permitting the Devil to carry his evil ways to the limit. Those who profit by the experience will hate iniquity and love righteousness and will be rewarded with eternal life. All others, with the Devil, will be destroyed. Satan thinks he is thwarting God's progress, but God is overruling the effects of Satan's course. For instance, the Church has been subjected to many trials and much tribulation by reason of Satan's efforts, but the Lord assures us that "these fiery trials" of the Christian will "work out for them a far more exceeding weight of eternal glory."

HIGH GRADE
Flavoring Extracts

We prepare a line of flavoring extracts that every good cook should know about. These extracts are the finest that skill and care can produce. The ingredients used are the very best that money can buy. For strength, purity, delicacy and naturalness of flavor our extracts cannot be excelled. They cost no more than many inferior extracts. If they cost twice as much they would be the cheapest to buy—they go so much farther and produce so much better results.

THE LITERAL IDIOT AGAIN.

A Very Satisfactory Explanation of Noises Heard, but Not Seen.

The lodgers were alarmed one night by what sounded like a mar running at a tremendous pace in the room above. As the noise came from the room of a new lodger, nothing was said. The next night the same running noises were heard; still it was thought best to say nothing. But the third night the noise differed. The boarders huddled together in the parlor as the chandeliers shook as the man above apparently came down at intervals with a thump thump that fairly shook the house.

Two men were delegated to see what was the matter.

"What in the world is the matter up here?" asked one of the men as the door was opened by the new lodger, apparently breathless.

"Why," came the answer, between gasps of breath, "I'm taking my medicine."

"Medicine?" echoed the men.

"Yes," said the man, as he dropped into a chair from sheer exhaustion. "It's harder on me than it is on you. But the doctor said I should take it two nights running, and then skip the third night."—Pick-Me-Up.

"Eye Witness"

was afraid. But I don't want him to escape punishment, and now I am willing to come and testify to what I know if I am wanted." The writer then gave his name, the address of his boarding house in the city to which he said he had fled two days after the murder on money furnished by Henry Beattie himself, and the name of the man in that city who now employs him. Then followed his story. This is substantially the way he told it:

"I was employed by (Mr. Wendenburg withholds the name), who is a farmer, and who has a farm near the Midlothian turnpike in Chesterfield county, not far from South Richmond. I was a farmhand. On the evening of July 18 last a cow belonging to Mr. ——— strayed and I was out to hunt for it. The cow got into the pine woods and I followed it until long after dark. Sometime after 10 o'clock, I am not sure just how many minutes it was, I was in the woods on the right-hand side of the Midlothian turnpike as you go out from Richmond, and I saw a light. As I walked closer to the road I saw an automobile standing almost in the middle of the road facing toward Richmond and there were two people in it, a man and a woman. They were both sitting in the front seat.

"They were quarreling. I could hear them talking loud, so I did not show myself, but waited behind a tree about ten feet from the edge of the road in the thick pine woods to hear what they said.

"The woman was pleading with the man. She was saying that she wanted her love back again and she did not want the man to be cruel to her. The man answered roughly.

Crosses Road For Gun.

"At one time I heard him say, 'I am tired of all this; I am going to end this.' Then I heard the woman say, 'How are you going to end it?' The man said something I couldn't hear, and then I heard him say, 'I'll show you how I'm going to end it.' He got out of the machine and walked across to the opposite side of the road from where I was and then after he had been there a minute he came back with something in his hand. I could not see what it was in the dark. The woman was standing in the machine in front of the left-hand seat in the front part of the automobile when the man came back. Both had been sitting in the front seat before he went away to the side of the road.

"Just when the man came back I heard the woman scream once. Then the man who was standing in the road swung what he had in his hand and hit the woman on the side of the face. She fell from the machine to the road and she did not make a sound.

"For a minute the man stood looking at her. Then I heard him say, 'Damn you, you're not dead yet. I'll fix you.' Then he up with a gun, which was what he had hit the woman with, and he shot her where she lay in the road by the front seat of the automobile. I did not see where he shot her.

"I saw him throw the gun some where and begin to lift his wife's body in the front seat of the automobile and I came out from the trees.

"The man turned around and saw me, and he said to me, 'Did you see this?'

"I told him yes, I had seen it. 'Damn you, what the hell are you going to do about it?' he said.

Threatened With Death.

"I didn't say anything. Then he began to threaten me. He said he was rich and had lots of friends in Richmond, and if I told on him he would have me killed somewhere. He said nobody would believe my story if I appeared in court against him, and I had better get out. He said he would give me some money and a suit of clothes if I would go away.

"I told the man I would go away. Then he told me to come to Beattie's store the next day and there would be some money for me. I went the next day and got some money and bought a suit of clothes. I stayed in South Richmond for two days then, but I was scared and got so nervous after that two days, and I took the train to this place.

"You can find out from Mr. ——— if it is not true that I worked for him. I will come and testify if you want me."

Upon reading this letter Wendenburg immediately sent detectives Jarrell and Wiltshire of the Richmond force out to the farmer's place, whose name had been mentioned in the letter as the former employer of the volunteer witness. They verified the fact that a man by the name of the letter-writer had worked for this farmer and had left the farm shortly after the night of the murder. They also verified the story of the strayed cow.

HOGAN HAS A PLAN

WOULD SETTLE ANCIENT BUGABOO FOR ALL TIME.

Attorney General Says That License Coupled With Regulation Is the Only Safe Solution of the Liquor Problem in Ohio.

Columbus.—Atty. Gen. Timothy S. Hogan is being generally commended for his recent open stand in favor of regulating the saloon as a means of permanently disposing of the wet and dry bugaboo in Ohio. Mr. Hogan recently gave out an interview outlining his stand in the matter, and has since received expressions of marked approval from every section of the state.

"A constitutional license provision supplemented with measures strictly regulating the operation of the licensed saloon is, to my mind, the only solution of the saloon question in Ohio."

This was the emphatic statement of the attorney general when a newspaper man inquired as to his views relative to the big question now before the people of the state—the question that is occupying the center of the stage in the agitation preliminary to the selection of delegates to next January's constitutional convention.

Why "Wet" and "Dry"?

"There seems to be a general unanimity of opinion that the convention will be a plain 'wet' and 'dry' fight, to the detriment of other big issues pending," Mr. Hogan continued. "There is no necessity for this. That contingency was provided for last winter when the Green bill for the separate submission of the question was passed by both the 'wets' and 'drys.' Let the convention, when it meets, take up the question at once, and put it directly up to the people. Instead of endangering the whole constitution, let them vote on the question of license or no license, apart from the general constitution. Then the majority will rule, and the delegates will go ahead and take up the other big issues without the liquor bugaboo to befuddle the issues."

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOGAN, Who Says That the Constitutional Convention Should Be Saved From Being a Wet and Dry Fight By Keeping the Question Separate.

Watch the Delegates.

"A rational voter, who leans to neither extreme, can hardly support a convention delegate who will refuse to sign that statement which was expressly designed to save the convention from being a one-issue affair," Mr. Hogan added.

The attorney general, who has made such an excellent record at the head of the state's legal department, took up the license question at length, and proved to be well informed on the question.

"I find that the opposition to the proposition of saloon license arises from a lack of information and a prevalence of misinformation on the subject," Mr. Hogan told the reporter. "If every voter thoroughly understood how license would work out in Ohio, opposition would be infinitesimal."

Local Option Stands.

"In the first place, a provision in the constitution licensing saloons would in no way effect the present local option laws. Localities that prefer to remain 'dry' could do so under the present system of taxation. That, I believe, is not generally understood. The license would apply only in localities where saloons are permitted to exist by the will of the people."

"The big point is, to my mind, that it would force the saloonkeeper to run a respectable place; would clean out the dives automatically, and would bring the business of selling liquors up to a much higher plane."

"This would be done, of course, through the principle of revoking the license of the man who violates the laws," Mr. Hogan explained. "You and I know that the average saloonkeeper is seldom deterred by the imposition of a fine. Illegal practices are usually so profitable in the saloon business that the fine, even a large one, can be paid time and again. To the worst class of joint proprietors even imprisonment for short periods has little terror. They are so 'tough' that the disgrace is nothing, and they go right back. But when you take away a man's right to do business, as you would for violations of the law under the license system, you force that man to obey the law. There is nothing he fears so much as the loss of his license. With it once revoked, he can never do business in the state again."

Bars "Side Lines."

Mr. Hogan further believes that the license principle of limiting the number of saloons would have a good effect. "If, in Ohio, under the license system the number of saloons was limited to one to every 750 inhabitants, say, the number of saloons in each town would be so decreased that only the well-run places would be operated. With a lesser number doing business, those who held licenses could afford to do away with the 'side lines' that they now are almost compelled to operate in order to meet the stiff competition. By side lines I refer to the gambling games, the patronage of women of questionable character, the sale to minors and drunkards, and similar offenses. Under the present system, with the number of saloons practically unlimited, and with only fines for these offenses, they are all too general. But with a limited number of saloons in a community, and a number of persons always ready to enter the business, the saloonkeeper with a license would consider a long time before he would violate the law in any manner. The men wanting his license would be only too willing to immediately report any infraction of the statutes on his part."

Mr. Hogan pointed to the operation of the law in states where license exists as the best proof of his argument. "People who have visited Pennsylvania cities know that it is absolutely impossible to get a drink in a saloon there on Sunday, or after the closing hour. Neither love nor money will buy one. Drunkards are absolutely barred, and every provision of the law is lived up to. Pennsylvania has the saloon question practically settled, and it is high time that Ohio takes a step in that direction."

Change is in Whisky.

Mr. Hogan continued to point out how, with the principle of license in effect in this state, present conditions could be greatly improved. "Even the radical prohibitionist can hardly be satisfied with present conditions," he pointed out. "I know that in my town of Wellston there are many men who worked hard for county option who are now thoroughly disgusted with its operation. There seems to be about as much whisky sold as there ever was. The only difference is that it is worse whisky."

"At the same time, these men would dislike to return to the old condition. Wellston, like every other town, had some pretty disreputable saloons, and no one wants them back. But there are hundreds of so-called 'dry' men who would like to see the whole condition changed—would like to see a lesser number of quiet, orderly, well-regulated, licensed saloons replace the present multiplicity of speak-easies and blind tigers. That, I believe, is true of every 'dry' town in the state, and the 'wet' towns would welcome license as a means of ridding their cities of the low dives and lawless joints."

"Once give the people a clear idea of the real working of the license saloon, and every rational man will support the proposition to the limit," was Mr. Hogan's closing comment.

WOULD END STRIFE

PROMINENT CLEVELAND DEMOCRAT WANTS SEPARATE SUBMISSION.

Declares For Regulatory License System as Best Means of Taking Liquor Question Out of Politics—Believes It Will Be Done.

Cleveland.—Newton D. Baker, former city solicitor and Democratic nominee for mayor of Cleveland, discussing the liquor problem, declared himself in favor of "a rational regulatory license system."

He added: "In the coming constitutional convention we are to have an opportunity, of which we should take advantage, to submit to the people of the state the question of leaving this traffic to be the football of legislation or to have a rational license law. And I have no doubt it will be done."

Baker is one of the clear-thinking, progressive Democrats of the state. He believes in facing all questions squarely.

DR. GLADDEN, OF COLUMBUS, GIVES "REFORMERS" SET-BACK

Columbus.—Dr. Washington Gladden, pastor of First Congregational Church, and one of the country's foremost clergymen, threw a monkey wrench, figuratively speaking, into the machinery of the National Reform association when he refused to assume the leadership of their Columbus branch.

The association recently opened a Columbus office, and at once made overtures to Dr. Gladden. He informed them that he could not subscribe to their views on prohibition, one of the principles which they most earnestly advocate.

THEORIES ARE USELESS

Cleveland.—James R. Garfield, leader of the Ohio progressives, who is a candidate for constitutional delegate from Lake county, speaking of the coming election, says: "The men who are to formulate our constitution should come from the ranks of a vigilant, honest, courageous and wise citizenship. A blind advocate of particular theories will be as bad an influence as a representative of special interests."

HOW TO SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS SELF-CONFIDENCE IS IMPORTANT IN SUCCESSFUL VOTING CONTEST

Big Vote Offer for Old Subscriptions and Renewals in This Issue

YOUR BEST CHANCE TO SECURE BIG VOTE

"How do you approach a prospective subscriber?" This question was asked a young lady whose chances in the Register-Herald's contest are considered good.

"Why it's the easiest thing in the world," she replied. "In the first place I bear in mind that I am not asking something for nothing and that every one in my community who wishes to keep in touch with what is going on should read the Herald and Register. It's a mere business proposition and I approach them as though I had no doubt whatever of the result. I am familiar with the best features of the papers and I tell them briefly that they will benefit themselves by signing for a year. Then I don't give up until the last minute."

until the evening of Saturday, September 16.

The big double vote offer above mentioned has been inaugurated for the purpose of allowing hustling candidates "to do big things." It is possible under this offer for contestants to show to advantage just what they are capable of doing in an effort to capture the elegant prizes.

Contestants will bear in mind that this double vote offer does not effect the other offers now in force, or yet to be made, but is in addition thereto.

Below we publish for your guidance the complete double vote offer which will be in force and effect during this period. Examine it carefully in order that you may fully acquaint yourselves with its importance.

Please note that there is no increase in the number of votes given on $1.00 subscriptions to either the Register or Herald. To secure the benefit of the Great Double Vote Offer, subscriptions to the Register, new or old, must cover two years, and to the Herald, must cover at least six months. The longer the time on either paper, the larger the vote.

Extra Votes for Old Subscriptions

From Thursday, September 7th to Thursday, Sept. 14th at 5:30 p. m., extra votes for Old Subscriptions will be given as follows:

For $15.00 in Old Subscriptions, 10,000 extra votes will be given.
For $30.00 in Old Subscriptions, 25,000 extra votes will be given.
For $45.00 in Old Subscriptions, 45,000 extra votes will be given.
For $60.00 in Old Subscriptions, 70,000 extra votes will be given.

These extra votes will be allowed besides the regular number given for each subscription and should not be confused with the Double Vote Offer for subscription for $2.00 or more which closes Sept. 16th.

NOTICE

To Contestants In District No. 2

Subscriptions that are mailed before the special offer expires, Thursday, September 7th at 5:30 p. m., will be allowed extra votes even if they are not received at this office until the next day. This will give the contestants in the rural districts an even chance with the Washington candidates and enable them to work up until the hour the special offer closes.

Attention, Contestants

Your attention is hereby called to the Great Double Vote offer which began Saturday Sept. 2, and lasts

HERE ARE THE PRIZES.

$600 (Schaff Bros.) Player Piano.
$265 (H. Link & Son) Piano.
$200 Circassian Walnut Bedroom Suite.
$125 Diamond Ring.
$75 Diamond Ring.
$40 Haviland & Co. China Dinner Set.

WHO ARE ELIGIBLE.

Any lady or gentleman living in Washington or in Fayette or adjoining counties will be eligible to enter the great contest.

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST.

It costs you absolutely nothing to enter the contest. All that is necessary is for you or one of your friends to cut a nomination blank from the Ohio State Register or Washington

Daily Herald, fill it out with your name or that of a friend and mail or bring it to the Contest Manager at the Register-Herald office; that will start you in the contest with 500 votes. You may also clip the vote coupons which will be found in this issue and that will count you 100 more votes.

WHERE THE PRIZES WILL GO.

The person who receives the largest number of votes in the entire contest will receive the Schaff Bros. Player Piano. The person who receives the second highest number of votes will receive the H. Link & Son Upright Piano with this restriction, that if the player piano is won in district No. 1, the upright piano must be awarded to the opposite district, or vice versa. In this way one of the grand prizes will be won in Washington and one outside of Washington. After the grand prizes have been awarded, the names of the winners will be stricken from the list and the holders of the first places will then be given the prizes known as District 1st prize. The same plan will be used in awarding the District 2d prizes.

Remember, three prizes will be given to each district, and each and every candidate will receive a square deal. One district will not have the advantage over another. District No. 1 will receive a grand prize and two district prizes. District No. 2 will also receive a grand prize and two district prizes.

THE DISTRICTS.

District No. 1 comprises the incorporate limits of Washington C. H. towns and villages therein.

District No. 2 comprises the county of Fayette outside of Washington and the adjoining counties, including the votes.

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Mr. James Minshall's class of the Christian church, will hold a provision sale at Haines' furniture store Saturday, Sept. 9th, opening at 9 o'clock.

TEACHING CHILDREN TO LIE

ON A CROWDED excursion train yesterday I saw a tragedy of child-life that wrung my heart, and an exhibition of meanness on the part of a father that for the first time in my life made me wish I had the power to punish. This man was guilty not only of wicked cruelty, but of an attempt at subornation of perjury, which my learned legal friends tell me is a serious crime in the eyes of the law.
The train I speak of was, as usual, already crowded to the point of extreme discomfort when it stopped at a station and again the seemingly impossible happened. The incoming rush from the station platform jammed more persons into the car. A family group caught my eye. It was a father, a mother with an infant in her arms and a little girl who was probably eight or nine years old. They were on their way to the beach for a day's outing.

A young man who had been clinging steadfastly to his seat glanced up, saw the mother with a child in her arms and arose. The woman sank wearily into the seat and her husband caught a strap above her head.
It was the fourth member of the group—the little girl—who won my interest and sympathy. She had pushed her way through the crowd, carrying a satchel whose weight taxed her puny strength. It was the impediments of the little army for the day's march, and she bore the burden like a true soldier, although the big strong father was wholly unencumbered. But her dark eyes snapped with anticipated pleasure of this wonderful outing—perhaps her gladdest day of all the year.

The tiny creature, despite the motion of the train, held tightly to the satchel. It might have contained all the wealth of a Solomon from the way she jealously guarded it, and she even managed to smile as she was buffeted about in the forest of legs and skirts in the car aisle. Her poor arms could not reach half way to the dangling straps overhead. No one seemed to pay the least attention to her.

Then came the conductor. "He was perspiring and irritable. At his demand for tickets the father handed him two slips of pasteboard.

"Who pays for this girl?" the conductor snarled.

A frightened look came into the child's eyes.

"We don't pay for her she is too young," said the father.

"She's more than six and you'll have to pay. Hurry, now!"

"No, she doesn't pay," insisted the father.

"How old are you?" demanded the conductor, grasping the child by the shoulder.

The little girl, her eyes filled with horror and fright like those of a doe with the pack at her throat, shook her head.

"How old are you?" shouted the conductor.

The child was dumb. Her lips trembled and she bowed her head.

"That child is more than six and you've got to pay for her or she'll have to get off the train," said the conductor, finally.

The father grumblingly paid the fifteen cents fare and the conductor, with a jerk at his fare register that made the little bell give a sharp cry, passed on.

Then the father—a disgrace to the name—looked down at the little girl, his eyes blazing with wrath. She had not lied. He spoke to her and her breast heaved. She began to sob softly. She was afraid and ashamed.

Ashamed? Yes, ashamed of being a big girl and a burden to her parents! Ashamed because she was growing up! Her glorious day was spoiled. Perhaps a beating awaited her because she had been too terror-stricken to lie. And now that she had become a burden and had to pay fare, she would never, never again see the ocean and the great white beach, with its glistening sand and the playful little waves that dance so deliciously about her bare feet.

A tragedy, indeed, and the man honored by the name of father was guilty of the crime. I wished I had the power to punish him.

$600 Schaff Bro. Player Piano

First Grand Prize 2nd Grand Prize

$600 Schaff Bros. Player Piano

This beautiful Player Piano will be given to the person having the largest number of votes in the Register-Herald's Great Voting Contest, and was bought of J. A. Smalley, who will shortly have the instrument on exhibition at his store-room on West Court St., next door to the T. C. DeWees photo gallery, also in Exhibition hall at the County Fair next week.

This player piano carries with it an unlimited warranty and is the most simply constructed player on the market, one lever acting for the tempo, start, stop and rewind, making it possible for a child to operate it and play any style of music, from ragtime to the most classical.

The tone of this instrument, its volume of sound and artistic workmanship have earned for it the distinction of being one of the finest player pianos ever brought into Fayette county. Call at Smalley's store on West Court street and examine this prize.

$265 Link & Son Piano

This piano, also made by the Schaff Bros., of Chicago, Ill., and Huntington, Ind., has no equal on the market for the price. The people making this piano have been located in Chicago since the year 1868, since which time their financial rating has been unsurpassed by any of their competitors. They were the first firm to make upright pianos in Chicago after the great fire of 1872, and a steady improvement has marked the quality of their product ever since.

This piano was purchased from J. A. Smalley and is on exhibition at the storeroom next to the DeWees photograph gallery. The many excellent features of this instrument, combining a double veneered maple-lined mahogany case, light, perfectly balanced and sympathetic action and soft mellow tone make it one that anyone who is a lover of music would be proud to own.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$200 Bed Room Suite

In Circassian Walnut, consisting of one standard sized Dresser, one Chiffonier with five large drawers, and one Bed with the new style roll top head and foot boards.

This suite would adorn a palace. It is a prize that will stand the test of time. It will ever be a thing of beauty, fit to hand down to children and grandchildren as an heirloom of Twentieth Century art.

This prize can be seen at the store of The Fayette County Hardware Co., where it was purchased. This firm's well known reputation for square dealing is a sufficient guarantee that this beautiful prize is all that is claimed for it.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$40 HAVILAND CHINA DINNER SET

This eighty-piece genuine Haviland China Dinner Set, which was purchased of S. S. Cockerill & Son, will be awarded as the District Second Prize.

Haviland & Co., the makers of this beautiful ware, and S. S. Cockerill & Son, the local dealers, guarantee each piece in this set to be absolutely perfect in every way. Each piece bears two stamps. The green one shows that the body of the article was made by Haviland & Co., while the red stamp is a guarantee that the decorations are also a work of this wonderful factory. When examining these dishes please note that they bear both the green and red stamps.

This ware is beautifully decorated in gold, and each piece has been kept free from water so that the monogram of the owner may be put on if desired. The set consists of the following articles: 12 Dinner Plates, 12 Pie Plates, 12 B. and B. Plates, 12 Teas and Sauces, 12 Fruit Saucers, 1 meat Platter, 1 Footed Salad Dish, 1 Baker, 1 Sauce Boat, 1 Covered Sugar and 1 Creamer, forming a prize that will not only be appreciated by the winner and admired by all her friends, but that is as good as money will buy.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$125 Diamond Ring

This ring was purchased at the store of C. A. Gossard & Co., who guarantee it to be a pure and flawless stone. If C. A. Gossard & Co. added not one word of assurance, this beautiful little gem would speak for itself.

The perfect color, correct cut and proportion give it the scintillating brilliancy that comes only in the perfect stone. It is a gem no better than which adorns the hand of royalty—it is a prize that any young lady may well strive for.

To the energetic woman who wins it, this beautiful gem will be as a legacy in the bank. Its value is eternal and can never grow less. The person who wins this prize is not required to take the ring which we have selected, but CAN HAVE THE CHOICE OF ALL $125 DIAMONDS in the store of C. A. Gossard & Co.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$75.00 Diamond Ring

This stone, purchased of W. H. Hettesheimer, Jeweler, is not quite as large as the diamond offered as the District First Prize, but it a good sized gem, perfect in color and absolutely flawless. It has a Tiffany setting, and will make a splendid prize for some worthy young lady.

W. H. Hettesheimer guarantees this ring to be exactly as it is here advertised, and the person who wins it can have their CHOICE OF $75 DIAMONDS IN HETTESHEIMER'S store.

Young ladies, here is a chance to secure that coveted diamond. Perhaps you may never have the opportunity of getting another. Some person is going to be the proud possessor of this valuable prize. Why not you? It will not cost you a cent.
